2001 Update

Introduction

My ancestors settled on Isle Madame, a small island off the southern coast of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, in the 1700s. Among them were the families of Poirier, Samson, Josse and McDonald. I compiled a history of the McDonalds over ten years ago, but have always felt the need to do more to recognize and remember my grandparents, great and beyond, who lived and died in the small Canadian fishing village of D'Escousse, Richmond County.

In 1987, the last time I visited D'Escousse, I decided that since most of the families who lived there in the 18th and 19th century were related, that I should write a book tracing all of the families of the community. Before that could be done however, more information was needed and the obvious place to start was with the census records. I purchased microfilm copies of the 1871, 1881 and 1891 censuses and began the tedious process of transcription.

The 1881 census was the first of my efforts. I transcribed and printed it in 1990, and made some revisions in 1992. I began transcribing the 1891 census next, but have not yet finished that project. In the meantime the 1901 census has just been released. Before I embarked on that effort however, I decided to go back in time to transcribe this, the 1861 census. I plan to continue on with publications for the other available census records, and also for available probate records and deeds. It is my hope that others who descend from people of D'Escousse will find interest in and benefit from this.

Includes 2001 Update to Index

The 1861 census lists only the heads of household by name, but provides a detailed breakdown by gender and age for all individuals living in the household. It asks for all individuals in the household as of 30 March 1861.

The census is divided by county and by polling place. Richmond County is divided as follows:

1. Arichat
2. Petite Degrat
3. D'Escousse
4. Black River
5. River Bourgeoise
6. St. Peters
7. L'Ardoise
8. Grand River
9. Red River
10. River Inhabitants
11. Little Arichat
12. Loch Lomond
13. Framboise

The inhabitants in the polling districts were listed on pages (called abstracts) of 39 lines each. The D'Escousse census covers six pages.

At the time of the 1861 census there were 1173 people living in D'Escousse, 570 males, 603 females. Sadly, during the preceding year 82 people had lost their lives, 49 males and 33 females. This number was unusually high due to an epidemic of "sore throat", possibly scarlet fever, which claimed 59 people, many of them children.

The following is a listing of causes of death and number of individuals who died for the period 30 March 1860 through 30 March 1861:

Sore Throat	59
Teething	2
Consumption	6
Suddenly	1
Unknown	4
Fever	8
Acute Rheumatism	1
Dytheria (sic!)	1

In addition to the information provided on individuals living in D'Escousse and mortality data, the census also provides information on religion, occupation, ability to read and write, and farming and agricultural products. Those interested in information beyond that provided in this transcription should consult the census directly. I used the microfilm version available from the Church of the Latter Day Saints, roll number 0865087.

RELIGION

The following is a breakdown of religious preference for the people of D'Escousse:

Church of England	84
Catholic	1075
Church of Scotland	7
Methodist	1
Independent	5
Presbyterian	1

OCCUPATION

The following is a breakdown of occupations of the people of D'Escousse:

Farmer	11
Clergyman	1
Farm Laborer	1
Laborer	10
Merchant	1
Mariner	90
Teacher	4
Clerk	2
Shoemaker	3
Carpenter	5
Fisherman	134
Blacksmith	3
Stevadore	1
Ship Carpenter	1
Ferryman	1
Trader	1

Please note that the microfilm version used had several frames where the pages of the original bound census volumes had not been filmed clearly. The filmer neglected to press the pages back far enough so that the columns nearest the spine could be read. Therefore, upon first tally, the total number of males/females per household did not always match the individual listings. This was handled by comparing those half dozen cases against an additional listing that broke down the ages for living individuals and those who died by page number. It was possible to establish the occurrences of those data that were hidden in the center columns near the spine.

The final entry, #147, was impossible to read on several pages. Page 1 was supposed to list two families who had marriages occur within the year, but only one check mark was visible. Page 2 had three marriages, but only one was discernable. Page 3 also had three, but I could identify only one. The two entries for page four were visible, but none of the 6 marriages for page 5 could be seen. There were no marriages for the families listed on page 6.

INDEX

The names listed in this index reflect, when known, the most common spelling rather than the way they were actually spelled by the census taker. The numbers following the names indicate the census abstract (page) number, and the number of the listing on the page (e.g. McDonald, Edward 2-16 indicates that Edward McDonald was the 16th name listed on abstract or page number 2).
